The 'Perfect' Internet?

To mark 'Safer Internet day ' this week, pupils across our school have been thinking about how different groups /companies can have a positive impact on helping to make the Internet a safer place for us all. Children in Early Years have thought about what they could do to help create a 'safe ' internet, with children across Key stage 1 and 2 thinking about the role of parents, teachers, Internet companies and Governments. The children came up with lots of suggestion such as speaking to someone when we are worried about something online, to the implementation of Laws to help control and legislate online spaces. This is our Youth Charter for Internet Safety. We linked this with our work on Rights Respecting School and our knowledge of children 's rights! Look out for a video outlining our suggestions for the Youth Charter in the coming days! #WillowparkWonderful
